

NASHOBA

Regional School District

Press Release

Mr. Greg Irvine has accepted the position of Principal for the Pompositicut and Center Elementary Schools in Stow. Mr. Irvine was chosen as a finalist by a screening committee consisting of parents, staff, and teachers, representing both schools. During the screening process, the committee met at Pompositicut School and reviewed all of the candidates, ultimately choosing six candidates to interview. Two finalists were then forwarded for consideration. The screening committee members included the Chair, Assistant Principal Joel Bates (Florence Sawyer School, Bolton); Assistant Principal Linda Winin (Pompositicut and Center Schools, Stow); parents Sue Allaire, Sara Kilkenny, Pat Boyé, Eric Bachtell, Amy Yapp, Pat Colarossi and Michael Suleski; and members of the faculty and staff, Mary O'Brien, Martha Sullivan, Deanna Montgomery, Lisa Wallat, and Pat Bailey. Mr. Wood, Nashoba Regional Schools Superintendent, met with each of the finalists. He then invited Mr. Irvine back for a third interview before offering him the position. Mr. Irvine was given a tour of Center School by Mrs. Winin, in between meetings with Mr. Wood.

Greg Irvine is currently the Assistant Principal at the Marlborough Intermediate Elementary School (MIES). Greg has been part of the administrative team responsible for bringing that school together after being formed as part of a district wide reorganization four years ago. Additionally, he has fourteen years of teaching experience as a science, mathematics and computer teacher. His experiences at MIES also provided him time to get to know how to work with two staffs, as MIES is linked with the Marlborough Middle School and there was combined use of some space. As a teacher in Framingham, Greg was instrumental in working with teachers and parents to set up a satellite campus of the Barbieri Middle School. Knowing how to manage time in two buildings was an important consideration for this position.

His supervisor, Susan Pikor, wrote and spoke of Greg's ability to establish relationships. She writes, "It amazes me how many students and families he has first hand knowledge of . . ." Marlborough Public Schools' former Assistant Superintendent, John Petrin, says ". . . I have found him to be a highly capable professional who has grown in his time with the Marlborough Public Schools." Mr. Petrin also wrote, "He is not afraid to involve others and to seek new ideas and advice. He works extremely well with students, parents and staff."

Mr. Irvine will commence with his responsibilities as Principal of Pompositicut and Center Elementary Schools on August 8th.
