Group norms from 2014-15

Honest conversations, with all voices being heard, and respectful listening on everyone's part

All members will be encouraged to participate in conversations

Invite opportunities for comments from members of the public

Not be shy about differing opinions, but always treat each other with respect—respond to the position, not the person

After the council has had an initial opportunity to engage in conversation around an agenda item, interested members of the public will be invited to participate in the conversation; the chair reserves the right to keep discussions on topic and within reasonable time constraints

At the conclusion of each meeting, the public will be invited to provide open comments
